de Paur Chorus Next on Stage

Play's Prop Men Near a Frenzy

"January Thaw," the Columbian Players' forthcoming production, is nearing its final stages, despite unprecedented holidays, mix-ups in the casting, and the myriad problems confronting the prop and stage crews.

Prop Crew Frenzied

Antique lamps and a stuffed deer's head are easily-surmountable problems, compared to the two commodes and the portrait of Calvin Coolidge which Joe Davis and Don Heuer, property men, must obtain.

Jim Kinsella and John Woods, aspiring electricians, are both expecting at least third-degree burns from the massive college switchboard. Gus Zakes, foreman of the construction crew, is driving Don Lusk, Dick Van Der Karr, and Kirby Johnston to blistered hands and paint-smearing pants in the building of the set.

The cast, after several revisions, is finally resolved to the following:

Herbert Gage	Utah Cummings
Frieda	Betty Frank
Marge Gage	Mary Ann Boreczky
Sarah Gage	Marie Therese Marion
Paula Gage	Pat Holden
Barbara Gage	Mona McNamara
George Husted	Bob Gregoire
Jonathan Rockwood	Dick Vossler
Mathilda Rockwood
	Eleanor Larsen
Uncle Walter	Al Kovac
Matt Rockwood	Joe Mullin
Mr. Loomis	Mike Perrini
Mr. Carson	Tom Johnson

Trip to Kokomo

Open to All Students

St. Joseph's Commerce Club, under the direction of Rev. Albert Gordon, will sponsor a student trip to Kokomo, Ind., on Nov. 11, to provide a cheering section for the Puma football team in the Canterbury College game. This is the last contest scheduled for the 1949 Pumas.

The Commerce Club will arrange for busses to carry the students, providing a sufficient number sign up for the trip. The price of the trip for each student, along with the time of departure, will be posted on the bulletin boards soon.

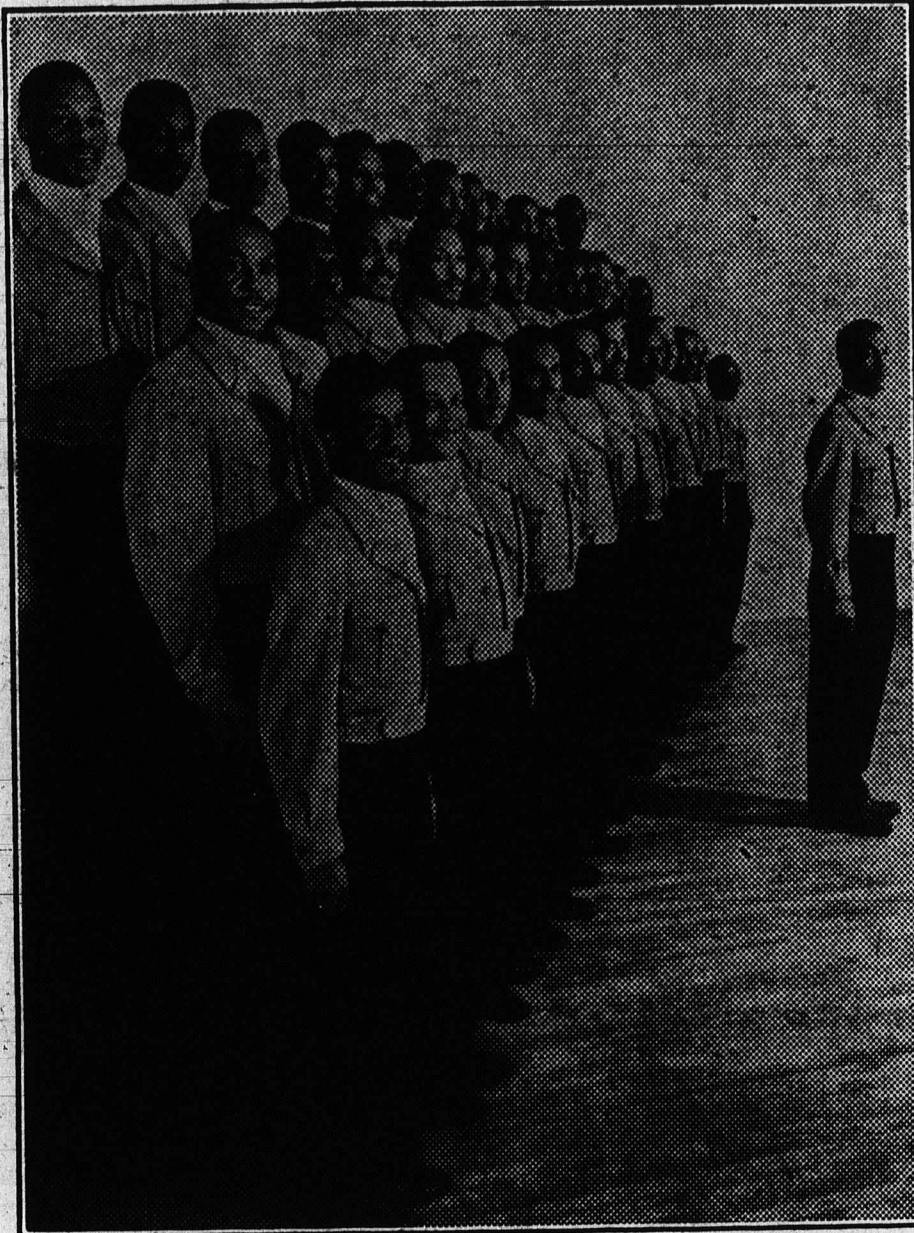

Chicago Club Plans Two Early Dances

St. Joseph's Chicago Club is planning dances for both the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday periods.

The Club's third annual Christmas dance will be held Monday, Dec. 26, in the "Bal Tambrin" of the Sherman Hotel, Chicago. Bids will be priced at about $3.60. Members of the Entertainment Committee, in charge of the dance include Tony Galvin, John Kaczmarczyk, Andy Evans, Joe McGrath, Dave Walsh, and Al Fellingner, as well as the Club's four officers.

A more informal dance will be held sometime during the Thanksgiving vacation. A small dance combo will provide the music.

Cheerleaders Sponsor Contest To Get More, Louder Yells

The "Noisy Four," Don Netols, Gene O'Hare, John Hauer and Tom English, are searching for more ways to grow hoarse. As St. Joe's cheerleaders, they want more cheers, and in order to get them, they are sponsoring a contest, open to all students.

Mr. Attwater, Lecturer, To Speak Tomorrow About Catholic Liturgy

Mr. Donald Attwater, noted author and lecturer, will address a Collegeville audience, tomorrow night, in the College Theatre. His topic will be Catholic Liturgy.

The author of numerous works on Liturgy, Attwater is best known for his writings on the Oriental Church. They include "The Catholic Eastern Church" and "Eastern Catholic Worship."

Mr. Attwater was born in England, where he attended the public schools. He studied law for four years, but his interests as a young man lay in history and drama. For some time he worked as a translator in a Benedictine monastery, and later in a publishing house.

Served in War

The first World War interrupted Mr. Attwater's work for three years. Stationed in the Near East, he became interested in the Eastern Church whose worship has become the subject of his best books. After his army career, he became editor of "Pax," a Catholic magazine.

In his writing, Mr. Attwater is clear and concise. He expresses the belief that hope for a civilization which respects human freedom and dignity lies in America rather than in Europe.

Ex-Infantry Group's Repertoire Includes World's Music, Songs

The de Paur Infantry Chorus, all ex-GIs who have sung together since 1942, will be presented in the College Theatre, Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, the second concert in the Speckbaugh Memorial Series.

Council to Build Student Interest

The inter-hall council, newly established as a student function on the campus, has gone to work with a vengeance which promises big things in the future. Originated and formed by the Student Council as a functionary to integrate student and inter-hall activities, this group has three big projects in view: namely, the purchase of a television set for the Rec Hall; the inauguration of a poster campaign to arouse and heighten student interest in such things as athletics activity, school projects, etc.; and the assumption of the Blind Date Bureau.

TV Student Project

The television project is to be essentially a student project. The money to purchase the set is being collected from the students themselves on a voluntary basis. Since the set will be thus collectively owned by the student body, it is believed that more pride and care will be taken in its use.

The other two projects, although only in their initial stages, are being developed rapidly. Posters are being prepared to stimulate interest in the remaining football games and will be soon seen on various parts of the campus, while the Blind Date Bureau will be reorganized for future dances.

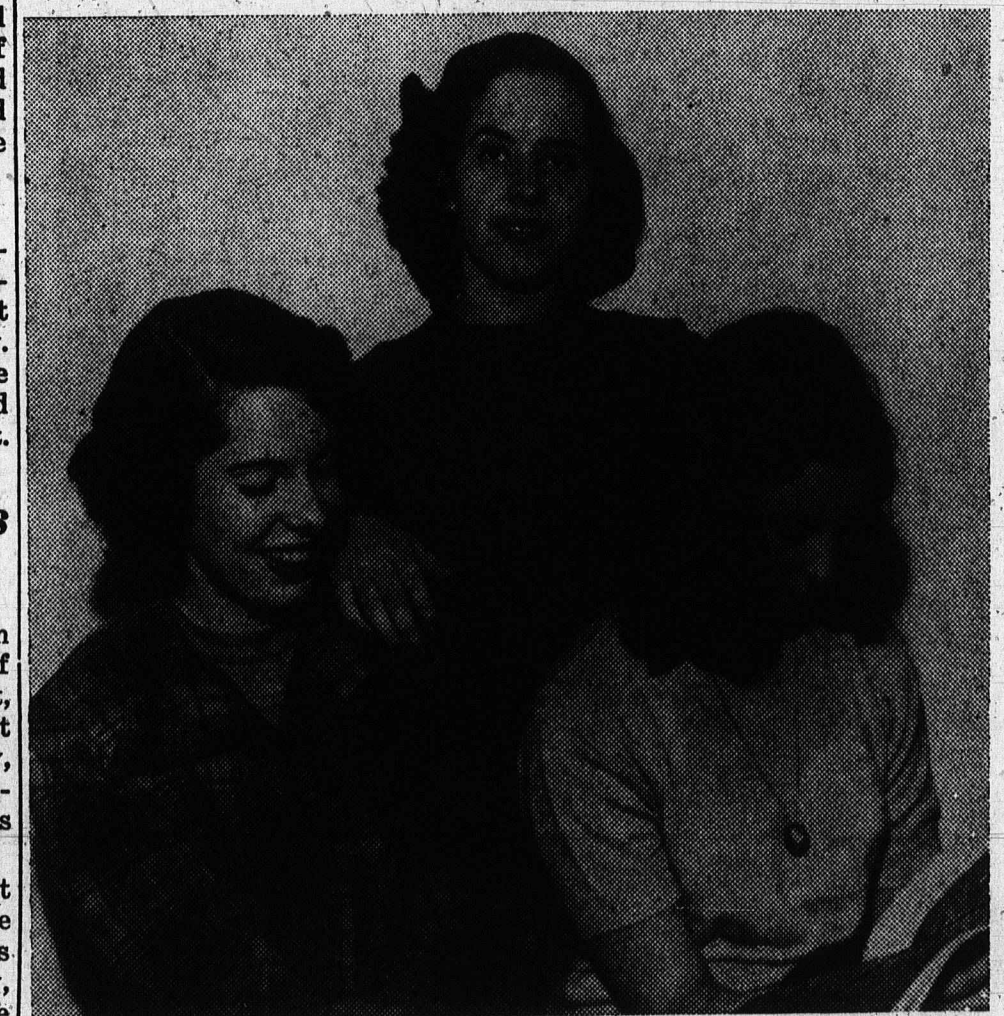

Organized during the war at Fort Dix, N.J. by men of the 372nd Infantry Regiment, the 35 members of the group soon became an independent unit of the army services in a morale-building campaign, both in Europe and in the Pacific, giving more than 2,000 concerts to the members of the armed forces.

Leader in "Winged Victory"

Mr. Leonard de Paur, director of the chorus, enlisted in the army as a private but rose to the rank of captain. He directed the singing of 60 voices, one of the most admired features in the Air Force show "Winged Victory." After a year with the production, Mr. de Paur asked to be sent to Europe, but instead was assigned to Arizona as director of the 372nd Infantry Regiment's Glee Club, transferred from New Jersey. To the ensemble of splendid voices, de Paur brought brilliant musicianship and inspiring leadership. From Saipan to Berlin the chorus was an outstanding attraction and was received enthusiastically everywhere.

When the war ended, the singing infantry men decided to stay together as a civilian group. Their concert here will be one of 175 concerts scheduled for cities in 40 states, in their third year of nation-wide tours. Their novel program includes music of the many lands they visited in their Army tours, songs of World War II, modern arrangements of art songs, and Negro spirituals.

Three Thweet Things

Misses Mona McNamara, Pat Holden, and Marie Therese Marion (left to right) are three of the girls from Xavier College in Chicago who have parts in the forthcoming Columbian Player Production, "January Thaw." They play Barbara, Paula, and Sarah Gage, the daughters of a frustrated playwright who buys a house in Connecticut, only to find that the original owners are about to move back in, too. Dave Coady, Stuff drama critic, forecasts: "An interesting show full of good humor."

With a Nov. 23 deadline, students with a flair for originality or even a good memory are urged to submit new cheers. Judges of the contest are the Rev. Edward Roof, Director of Athletics, and Coaches Dick Scharf, Art Cosgrove and Fred Jones.

Entries at Post Office

Entries in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Athletic Department, may be dropped at the Post Office. No postage is necessary. Prizes to be announced on the bulletin boards will be awarded soon after the close of the contest.

Combined Glee Clubs Slate Programs

St. Joseph's Glee Club will join forces with the Choral Club of the College of St. Francis, Joliet, Ill., to present a Christmas concert in the College Theatre, Thursday, evening, Dec. 8. A repeat performance will be given at St. Francis on Dec. 11.

The theme of this year's concert will be "Christmas Carols of the Nations," including Christmas songs of France, Spain, Germany, England and Ireland, sung in the native tongues.

Johnson Leads Club

At the first meeting of the Glee Club, recently, plans were laid for the December concert and officers were elected. Walter Johnson was named president; John Metzner, vice president; and Tom Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

Action Speaks Loudest

Six weeks ago, a campaign to urge removal of indecent literature from the magazine racks of the country was announced in this paper. The movement sponsored by the Decent Literature Campaign of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, was to be carried out by members of various college chapters of NFCCS.

Four weeks ago, it was announced that the campaign had started in earnest, with members visiting magazine stands and requesting the cooperation of proprietors.

Two weeks ago, this paper printed an editorial commending the NFCCS for undertaking such a praiseworthy project. To date, however, the local chapter has done nothing. A recent visit paid to Rensselaer stores which sell magazines gave ample evidence of the fact that the same number, if not more, of pornographic periodicals, is still on the racks.

When an explanation of this was sought, an officer of the local chapter gave as excuse that the window stickers had not arrived. These window stickers are rewards for magazine sellers who cooperate by removing salacious literature from their places of business. They will mark places where only decent periodicals are sold. They are to be awarded, or withheld, after a period of trial.

We would like to ask why the magazine checkers could not have done the first part of their work, while awaiting the arrival of the stickers? If such a project is to succeed, it must be kept in the public eye, and definite results must be shown. Action is the only thing which will produce results.

STUFF is backing the Decent Literature Campaign to the end of its typewriter ribbon. We think criticism is overdue, since nothing has been accomplished in six weeks' time.—D.L.C.

Pep's Tide Is Growing Strong

The St. Joe cheerleaders, with the full consent of the faculty and the athletic staff, are sponsoring a contest among the students to obtain more cheers and yells for the Puma sports events.

Don Netols, Gene O'Hare, John Hauer, and Tom English, the yell squad, are striving to build up more spirit at pep rallies and games, and they want more and better cheers to do so.

No campus has "too much" spirit. St. Joseph's, like any other college, can use as much student pep as it can get.

In this case, it is up to the students to take an active part in the campaign. Every man in Pumaville now has the chance to win prizes and help his school by entering this contest, by offering any cheers or yells that he can conjure from his imagination. Every Puma rooter now has the privilege of helping the cheerleaders to help him, for the object of the campaign, after all, is to get more spirit; therefore more fun at the games, as well as to boost the Puma teams to greater feats.—U.C.

Cheers for The Council

Last Monday, the students of St. Joseph's College enjoyed a free day. It was not on the school calendar, and was not expected. The Student Council, through several interviews with the faculty, arranged the holiday, in order to give the student body a longer vacation for the feast of All Saints.

It is indeed gratifying to see the student governing body in action. In past years, there has been much comment on the general inefficiency of the group. STUFF commends the present Council, not only for getting this free day, but also for the other work they are doing in behalf of the students.—U.C.

Think Before You Hitch!

College authorities have generously, and we feel, nobly consented to the erection of signs on the path to the grotto which say, "Do not hitch to this post!"

Last week, somebody hitched!

And, judging from the remarkable fecundity of the ground in that vicinity, this was not an isolated example.

This is obviously an abuse, and if we all get together, it can be remedied. So come on, fellows, let's restrain ourselves and stop all this indiscriminate hitching.

Shuffleboard's History Found To Be Complex

Joe Puma stared into the latest thriller by Jane Austen and wished devoutly that she had run out of crow quills after the first chapter.

Ten minutes of this futile activity and only one paragraph further convinced him that there must be better things in this world, so he toddled off to the local hall of recreation to drown his sorrows in a cup of coffee, and engage in a small game of skill and chance at the shuffleboard table. Dave, his roommate and buddy, accompanied him, and thus two more men became addicts to the greatest game since loaded dice.

Shuffleboard originated in the glorious days of Cathay during the reign of the Puck dynasty. It all started when one Beech Ying, a Chinese schoolboy, fell into the habit of pitching pennies for amusement on the sidewalk outside P.S. 32.

Chinese pennies at the time were made out of lead, and were three inches in diameter and an inch thick. Since Beech Ying was more or less the sickly type, he found difficulty in throwing these monetary units the required twenty feet, so he polished off his section of sidewalk and began sliding them. In order to facilitate the operation even more, he raised the walk about four feet, so as not to bend over so much.

From these humble beginnings, the game progressed rapidly. An Irishman named O'Polo, who happened to be passing through, innovated the board covered sidewalk, so the pucks slid more easily. Mark O'Polo has since gone down in history as one of the contributors to this great game.

With the advent of the industrial revolution, sports-minded Americans took over the game. A late improvement was brought out by the owner of an Indiana pub, who built his boards inside his establishment on a platform, which completely obviated the need for the sidewalk out in front.

So when Joe Puma and Dave walked into the rec hall for a small game, the sport had reached its peak. Two hours later, they walked back to their room, Joe jingling the contributions of the other players in his pockets.

"Boy, you were sure hot tonight," said Dave. "You cleaned up on everybody. Where'd you learn to play so well?"

"Dave, my boy," he answered, "I merely brought the game to its final stage of perfection. I built an electro-magnet down there at the far end under the 'three' section."

Teltschik Brothers Show Good Technique

BY DAVE COADY

Technical accuracy characterized the concert of the duo-pianists, the Teltschiks, Alfred and Herbert, last Thursday evening in the first presentation of this season's Speckbaugh Memorial Theatre Series.

The artists displayed near-perfect timing, even in their bows during appreciative applause. Technically, their execution of the difficult two-piano arrangements satisfied the large audience.

True artistic interpretation, however, was evident only in the passages marked fuocoso (fiery) or fortissimo (very loud). The first half of the program was definitely lacking in emotional depth. Apparently, the Teltschiks have concentrated more on rhythmic qualities than on moods and themes.

Although the first half of Thursday's program was brightened by an elfin-like presentation of Strauss' "Blue Danube," the Teltschiks' best number was perhaps Debussy's "Fetes," as arranged by Maurice Ravel. St. Joe music-lovers, however, gave their most enthusiastic ovations to the three encores, which included "Begin the Beguine."

Allright, get in there and stop 'em, Reb!

GAG BUSTERS

BY BEECH

Stopping at Jim's the other day, who do I see straddling a stool with a nose-warmer cupped in one hand but my old pal Georgie. "How goes it on the campus, Hips," I say, knowing that I am about to be snowed under by 16 shovelfuls of the old ackasmacus by this poor man's Walter Winchell.

"Things are not copacetic, in fact, they are even lousy," says Georgie.

"Some wise guy gagging around has messed up my favorite disc jockey program by requesting a song called 'Why Don't You Haul Off And Love Me?'"

"Not only do I have to listen to two minutes of this glorified gas-piping, but also a mushy request from a fink named Cy Bohny for some dame named Marcella."

"Just to make matters worse, another bambino named Barrientos, who cottons to this remote control woo-pitching, requests another percussion symphony for some blue-eyed tomato in town."

"I bumped into Weepy Joe Moore, the other day, and the guy is looking for a bottle of Jergen's, because some joker tells him it is good for dishwasher hands. Joe acquires these boiled meat hooks when his jane lays the law down one night, and he winds up in the kitchen on the business end of a dishrag."

"Art Professor Brophy and Highpockets Krodel make a trip to some whistle stop joint to see a couple of old flames, and these babies must be something, because Brophy, who is the last word on such stuff as literature, scratch-sheets and racing forms, comes up with some phoney answers in a class he is supposed to be teaching. "This practice teaching is not always an odds-on-favorite, because Strangler Boudreau, who is building muscles for the local wrestling team, sweat it out the other day when he wound up only two pages ahead of the class."

"A guy named Vladova who is supposed to be selling musical instruments brings one of these gadgets to class and whips off a few cadenzas."

"Vestpockets Fiorella, who is awakened by this Jimmy Dorsey impersonation, tries to get the popcorn concession and maybe ring in a few trained seals."

"And Jim Stang brings one of them movie outfits to class, and just when everybody is waiting for Lana or even Grable, what does this guy do but try to high pressure one and all into buying some stuff which he got second-hand off a retired pitchman."

"It ain't safe to go into that salesmanship class with any mule in your jeans, unless you are like Fearless Froelich who is in there simply to beat the racket with a handful of rubber markers."

"All hands in the Ad Building are being disturbed by weird noises coming from a $32.43 phonograph which Carlos String-saver Garcia declares was a value at twice the price."

"Well, I gotta run, Georgie," I say.

St. Norbert's Smothers Pumas, 39-0

Ambrose Snaps Winning Streaks

BY BUD CLARK

A big and rugged St. Ambrose eleven clinched the Midlands Conference football championship, Oct. 23, at Davenport, Iowa, by whipping a hard-fighting St. Joseph's squad, 20-12.

The loss snapped a Puma three-game win streak and extended an undefeated Ambrose skein to six for the season. It also kept alive the old St. Joe nemesis of losing ball games on the road. It has been more than two years now since the Pumas have managed to turn the trick of winning on an opponent's gridiron.

Tough Opponent

Taking into consideration that Ambrose was the toughest opponent on the Cardinal and Purple schedule, the score doesn't look too bad. But the score doesn't tell everything. If you take a look at those Statistics, St. Ambrose racked up 290 yards rushing to the Pumas mere 78. Coach Larry "Moon" Mullins just wasn't to be denied with the terrific team he had.

The Bees wasted no time bouncing out front. Art Nixon blasted through the center of the line for a 56-yard scoring jaunt the second time Ambrose had its hands on the ball. Tim Madder booted the extra point and Ambrose led, 7-0.

Bees Buzz Again

Early in the second quarter, the Bees recovered a fumble deep in St. Joe territory. Matera flipped to end Beverour in the end zone for the second score. Madder again kicked the point and the scoreboard read, 14-0. The Pumas' backs should have been broken here, but they put a scare into the Ambrose fans before it was over.

St. Joe kicked off to Ambrose to start the third quarter and Don Dippel recovered the fumble on the Bees' 32. After a fumble set the Pumas back on the 39, Ray Biller started to work. Biller cracked for 13 yards to the Bee 20. Beaver went to the seven, and Frawley crashed over for the score. Tom Quinn's kick was wide and the Pumas were back in the game, 14-6.

That Man Again

The Pumas kicked off again to Ambrose and it was that man Dippel again who recovered on the Bees' 28. A Quinn to Schultheis pass play netted 22 yards to the Bee six. A few plays later Beaver scooted over for the second quick score. Tom Quinn's kick was blocked and that was as close as the Pumas were to come, 14-12.

The last Ambrose score came late in the third quarter on a pass play from Matera to Beverour from the 12-yard line of St. Joe. Madder's kick was wide, and that was the ballgame.

.. INTRAMURAL SPORTS ..

"Putting on the steam" in their final game, the Ramrods of Drexel Hall once more captured the Intramural Touch Football League championship after completing an undefeated season. It was the second straight crown for the "men across the road."

The title wasn't decided until the final game, however, when the Ramrods, pre-season favorites, met with the Irish Terrors, a freshman team from the Administration Building. The Irish Terrors, who were a surprise to the experts, had marked up seven straight wins before bowing in the final game to the Drexelites, 24-0.

Two hundred rooters were on hand to see the upperclassmen score four touchdowns, all on passes, but fail to make an extra point. "Jocko" Sullivan did the passing for the Ramrods and he had a host of able receivers.

The Irish Terrors had driven to the Ramrods' 5-yd. line at half time, but failed to threaten in the second half as pass interceptions proved costly.

Green Knights Play Inspired Ball To Win Own Homecoming Game

Playing an inspired, sensational brand of football, St. Norbert's Green Knights romped over a lackluster Puma team to the tune of 39-0, last Saturday afternoon in West De Peere, Wisconsin. Primed by coach Hearndon's scouting of the previous Puma battles and the fact that it was St. Norbert's homecoming game, the Green Knights played exceptional ball, and upset the Pumas by long aerial attacks, as well as ground-gaining rushes.

Seven Basketball Veterans Return For New Season

Seven returning lettermen answered Coach Art Cosgrove's call for fall basketball practice, Oct. 17. The letter winners include co-captains Ray Patterson and Bill Krodel, plus Jack Dwyer, Chuck Barton, George Peters, Don Tesmond, and Jack Wilz.

Other veterans who reported are Don Patterson, Chester Jendryk, Larry Blaeser, and Bob Horky. Horky, a member of the 1947-'48 squad, did not see action last year, due to an injury.

Footballers Bud Greif, Mike Kacmar, and Ed Schultheis are expected to join the squad at the end of the gridiron campaign. A promising newcomer to the team is Joe Kukoy, Sophomore transfer student from Valparaiso University.

Coach Cosgrove is stressing physical conditioning during the first few weeks of practice. Regular game practice will start about Nov. 1. Cosgrove said the team has a lot of experience and, with a few breaks, should have a good season.

* Home Games

The St. Joe team lacked the spirit and fight it has shown at the last home games. They seemed listless and "let down", allowing even the Norbert substitutes to score. Ray Biller, averaging four yards per try in rushing attempts, was St. Joe's best ground-gainer.

Fumble Sets Up 1st TD

The first touchdown of the tilt was set up when the Pumas fumbled the ball on the first play, after Norbert's opening kick-off. The Green Knights took possession of the pigskin on their own 35, and sent Paul Destiche around left end to the Puma 10. On the second Norbert play, Destiche went through left tackle to score. The conversion attempt failed.

Early in the second frame, Knight quarterback Bob Lindsay passed from his own 27 to Pat Smithwick, who scampered all the way for the second tally. John Ritchay's kick was good. The Pumas then started a drive goal-ward, but the threat was ended on the Norbert 15 by a fumble. The half ended with the Green Knights on the heavy end of a 13-0 score.

Punting Duel

The third canto started as a punting duel, with Ernie Bidwell on the sending end of the Puma kicks. Norbert's Destiche cut loose again, however, and in four plays, aided by a pass-interference penalty, the Green Knights had the ball on the Puma one-yard stripe. Norbert Wawrzyn, Knight full-back, plunged over for the score. Ritchey's end-zone pass to Bob Bush tallied the extra point, ending the third quarter at 20-0.

Early in the last frame, which started on the St. Joe 19 with Norbert in command of the ball, a pass by quarterback Dick Romanski scored the fourth Knight tally.

The kick was taken to the Puma 20-yard line. A Quinn pass brought it to the 36 by way of Ron Miniatt. On the next play, Destiche intercepted a pass on his own 45 and galloped 55 yards to score.

Last Score on Interception

The last score of the game was set up when another Puma pass was intercepted, giving the Norbert team the ball on the visitors' 17. Four plays brought it to the 2, and the Knights' Ray Crin smashed over the goal line on the fifth. John Ritchay's kick was (Continued on Page Four)

XavierGridders Near Climax Of '49 Season

BY JOE KILO

With the football season rapidly approaching a climax, Xavier Hall's gridiron is seeing some nip and tuck games, with Vince Hoying's eleven in top position, due principally to the stellar work of Mark Feck who has scored six times and contributed to the setting up of other TDs made by his teammates.

Jack Vey and Leo Matusicky of the Sebastiani aggregation have starred consistently throughout the season; Matusicky has crossed the goal line seven times, and Vey four times. Jim O'Connor, captain of the third place team, is leading the scoring of his teammates. His sharp and accurate passing put his outfit in first place for a few days. The able passing and running of Capt. Bob Griglak and Doc Ranly make them dangerous threats in every contest, and their team is not to be counted out. The O'Dell eleven, with one win and four losses, have experienced trouble in passing and defense, but they have never lacked fight.

Capt. Sebastiani's team is credited with the highest scoring of the season, when it steam-rolled its way to victory over the "Digger" O'Dells, 45-0.

Perhaps the most thrilling game of the campaign was the 13-12 encounter between the O'Connor and Sebastiani elevens. Leading in the waning moments of the game by a 12-7 count, Sebastiani and his cohorts were taken into camp after a series of desperation passes by the O'Connors. The winning TD was scored in the last 40 seconds of play.

Xavier Sophs Edge Freshmen

BY JOE KILO

The first in a series of games between the Sophs and Frosh of Xavier Hall was played Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23, and ended with the older men edging the newcomers, 21-20.

All Soph scoring was done in the first half of the contest, and they led at the halftime, 21-0. It began to look like an easy victory, but the Frosh took the offensive in the second half and completely bottled up their opponents.

Both teams did their scoring via the aerial route—Kilo to Griglak, Sebastiani to Feck, and Sebastiani to McKay for the Sophs. O'Dell kicked the three PATs. For the Frosh, O'Connor passed to Bobay, Smieska to Tom Beischel, and Smieska to Vey. Two tries for extra points by O'Connor were successful. His third attempt was low.

NFCCS Inaugurates National Service

A new service to college students was inaugurated recently under the auspices of the NFCCS whereby they will be informed of violations against Catholic standards of morality on the part of legislators, the press and radio.

The Catholic Collegiate Information Service was established at the first general meeting of the National officers held at the University of Dayton in August. Headquarters have been set up on the local campus, with John W. Lynch in charge.

Issues directly violating a moral law or flagrantly opposing the basic rights and liberties of individuals or institutions, and on which swift and direct action is deemed advisable and necessary by the National Office, NFCCS, will be brought to the attention of the college community and the students urged to write personal letters of protest as a moral influence on the molders of public opinion.
